EDITORIAL: WARP FACTOR 50

In May, London elected Sadiq Khan as the first Muslim mayor of a European Union capital. Never one to miss an opportunity, actor William Shatner was phaser-fast in tweeting out this thumbs-up message to the new political dignitary: “@SadiqKhan Khaaaaaaaaaannnnnnn!!! Congratulations Mr. Mayor! Bill.”

Even if you didn’t know Khan Noonien Singh was the genetically enhanced, revenge-seeking villain of Star Trek TOS’ 1967 episode, “Space Seed” or that he returned in 1982’s Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan, you’d know this single, exaggerated K-word was somehow a warmly-meant, comical reference to the Trek universe. Many original cast catchphrases have, in fact, become ingrained in world-wide culture: “He’s dead, Jim,” “Beam me up, Scotty,” “Highly illogical,” “I’m a doctor not a _____,” “I’m giving her all she’s got, Captain,” and, of course, “Live Long and Prosper,” among them.

While most TV shows come and go, Star Trek is one that may never be forgotten. The first episode of Gene Roddenberry’s “Wagon Train to the Stars” debuted in 1966, making this Trek’s 50th year. Non-sports has a long history with the original series, with the first card set released by Leaf in 1967. Black & white photos adorn the card fronts while stories, apparently dreamed up by Leaf writers, were featured on the backs. The product was withdrawn from circulation shortly after release due to contractual complications, making this 72-card thin-stocked set an extreme challenge to collect today. Both marked and unmarked reproductions, including boot-legs, exist.

The next Trek set came from Topps in 1976, a result of the show’s rebirth afforded by syndication. The colorful 88-card set also offered 22 stickers for added depth. Despite its continued popularity, this collection can still be found in prime condition and at reasonable prices.

Like stars in the galaxy, the Trek cards that followed are virtually countless, covering movies and all five TV series. With a sixth series, Star Trek: Discovery, premiering through CBS All Access in May, can related card sets be far behind? Regardless, new sets are still coming, with Star Trek 50th Anniversary planned from Rittenhouse Archives for December. Said Rittenhouse’s Captain, Steve Charendoff, “Star Trek is unequivocally the most enduring, compelling and expansive science fiction franchise in history, and at Rittenhouse we’re extremely pleased to be part of this incredible 50th anniversary celebration.

Expect many new, high-end cards that will make this possibly the most collectable Star Trek card set ever, and that says a lot.”

Because of the golden anniversary, this past summer’s Star Trek Beyond is loaded with easter eggs that lovingly point towards the long history of the franchise. For example, {spoiler alert} as the movie begins James Kirk records in his Captain’s Log that it is the 966th day in the Enterprise’s five-year mission. As all true trekkers know, TOS debuted in September 1966 (9/66). Another nice touch occurs near the end of the film. In it, Zachary Quinto’s Spock discovers a future photo of the Enterprise crew (actually, a publicity shot from the Star Trek V: The Final Frontier era, with Nimoy, Takei, Koenig, Doohan, Kelly, and Nichols, all uniformed and all surrounding Shatner in his Captain’s chair on the bridge). It’s this kind of imagery and connection to its past (future?) that keeps the series feeling so special. Star Trek is not really about whiz-bang technology or CGI-infused space battles. It’s the strength of a diverse group who love and respect each other, working together for the greater good and an optimistic future that make it all a Trek worth taking.

NON-SPORT NOTES

Change has been a theme in a couple of recent Notes columns. It's important to always be reflecting and looking at ways to improve. It's something the Non-Sport Update team takes seriously.

Over the past few issues, there have been changes inside these pages. Some are subtle. Others, a little less so. And it continues here.

During the summer, many on the Non-Sport Update team had the chance to meet face-to-face at the National Sports Collectors Convention in Atlantic City. Finally, after writing for the magazine for more than a decade, I got to meet Harris Toser and Alan Biegel in person. Being a Canadian on the west coast, it's tough to make it out east on a regular basis. Through a little bit of brainstorming there and off-site, a good look was taken at Non-Sport Update, what its strengths are and some areas to make it even better.

Some of those ideas have taken root in this issue. It's not a drastic overhaul. Rather, it's an attempt to tighten an already tight focus and make what you're reading a little more visual.

The first change is in the profiles for some of the new releases. They're all still here. However, you might find that focus to be a little shorter. That said, it's all about the cards. Chances are, you're already familiar with the movies and TV shows the cards are covering, so we're going to cut some of that other stuff short. You're here for the trading cards that go with them. So are we, and that's what we do best.

The formatting may be a little bit different, but all the details are still in here. Maybe even a little bit more. This is also reflected in an expanded New and Noteworthy section as well.

Not only should this lead to a tighter card focus, but it frees up a little space for us to introduce some new and exciting things. For starters, expect to see more features on vintage releases. The hobby has a lot of history. From classic sets to overlooked gems, there's plenty to uncover and revisit. Rudy Panucci debuts Vintage Spotlight by delving into 1965 Fleer Gomer Pyle with both details on the set and lots of visuals to go with it.

Another new column is Top of the Crop from Scott Thomas. He'll be taking a theme and making a list of sets from it. Just in time for Christmas, Top of the Crop debuts with a look at the various holiday-themed sets that are out there.

Top of the Crop will be in every other issue where it will alternate with a to-be-determined promo card column. We are all still shaken up by the passing of Bill DeFranzo. His passion for promos will carry on through another writer. We hope to have that in place next issue.

Another signal of the holidays is the arrival of a new Star Wars movie. This year, it's Rogue One, the first spinoff from the main storyline. Of course, that means new cards. When it hits the big screen, the ensuing set comes with it. Like last year, there's also a new edition of Star Wars High Tek, both of which are a big focus inside. Cards Online also highlights some of the recent online-exclusive Star Wars releases.

We also have a special variant issue planned that you'll want to be on the watch for. It'll have a different cover. Inside the variant is a sequentially-numbered Rogue One Mission Briefing promo card not available anywhere else. The variant issue will debut at MCM Birmingham Comic Con. For those who can't attend, it will be available afterward. Check inside this issue or beckett.com for details.

On the promo cards, thanks to Rittenhouse Archives for providing the Star Trek 50th Anniversary card for this issue. You can find out about that comprehensive set in a feature from Don Norton. Also, thanks to RRParks CARDS for the Basil Wolverton II: Wolverton's Women promo card.

And with that we say goodbye to 2016 and hello to 2017. It's been a year of change. And we like to think of that as a good thing, even when it's difficult. As always, we welcome and value your feedback. Please feel free to drop us a line about your thoughts on the tweaked format and new features. We're also always open to suggestions.

Happy New Year, everyone! Here's to a 2017 that sees some treasures knocked off your want lists and some new cardboard dreams to chase.

—Ryan Cracknell

They say every story has a beginning. What's rarely acknowledged is that they also have a middle. Rogue One: A Star Wars Story is that middle, a brand new adventure that bridges the gap between Episode III and IV in the epic Star Wars universe of motion pictures. Rogue One tells the heretofore untold tale of how an unlikely band of heroes secures plans to ultimately destroy the nearly impenetrable Death Star, the Empire's most sinister and awesome weapon. Set to coincide with the December 16th US release of the film, Topps has created a card set nearly as unique as the film itself. Titled Topps Rogue One: A Star Wars Story Series 1 Trading Cards, the collection features characters and storylines from the new film. As is typical for Topps' Star Wars products, Rogue One is stuffed with enough galactic goodies that it could even please a stuck-up, half-witted, scruffy-looking nerf-herder!

BASE SETS & INSERTS

As per Topps' Mark Von Ohlen, the 100-card base is broken down into character cards and story cards. Base card Parallels come in a number of varieties. Death Star Parallels will be abundant at one per pack. Green Squad is a little tougher at 1:2 packs, with Blue Squad at 1:4.

In Hobby Only boxes, collectors can also seek Gray Squad Parallels #d to 100, Gold Squad #d to 50 and Orange Squad #d to one.

Seven Insert subsets provide Character stickers, Montages, Icon cards that feature artistic interpretations of the key characters, Blueprints of ships and vehicles, Gallery cards which feature beautiful style guide artwork (primarily of Jyn Erso), Heroes of the Rebel Alliance, and Villains of The Empire. Printing Plates for Base and Inserts will also be part of this out-

DID YOU KNOW ... Topps

Rogue One: A Star Wars Story Series 2 will include the full story of the film and expand out the autograph list beyond the principal cast? The set will have five new insert sets including a deeper look at the Rebel fighter pilot squadrons. Series 2 will also have new patches, sketch cards, and autographs to collect. Series 2 launches in March.

of-this-world mix.

One very interesting aspect of the film is it legitimately brings back the most iconic screen villain of all time, Darth Vader.

Topps celebrates this event with the second pulse of Darth Vader Continuity Cards, available as extra special chases. These Vader inserts began in Topps Rogue One: Mission Briefing and will conclude in Topps Rogue One: A Star Wars Story Series 2 Trading Cards. There are five Vader cards per product for a total of 15.

AUTOGRAPHS, MEDALLIONS & SKETCH CARDS

Look for two hits per Hobby box, which will include Cast Autographs, Autograph Parallels, and Ultra-rare Dual and Triple Autographs to chase.

Signers are being kept under lock and key for now to preserve the secrecy that always surrounds a Star Wars movie.

Topps will announce them on their social media channels on December 17th when the product goes live. Autographs will be the sticker version, employing the same technique used in Topps Rogue One: Mission Briefing.

Sketch cards will also be an important facet of the set. “We have over 50 fantastic sketch artists returning for this set including Carlos Cabakeiro, Solly Mohamed, Rich Molinelli, Kris Penix, Marcia Dye, Kyle Babbitt, Tina Berardi, Robert Hendrickson, Brian Kong, and Stephanie Swanger,” affirmed Von Ohlen. “Everyone was very excited to have their first crack at sketching Rogue One characters. The artwork we’ve seen so far is beautiful.”

Medallion Cards will feature vehicles like Rebel Alliance U-wings and Imperial Star Destroyers. Medallion Parallels will also be out there in bronze, silver, gold, and an ominous sounding 1/1 galactic black.

Topps: Rogue One: A Star Wars Story Series 1 Trading Cards will retail a $1.99 per six card pack.

Also look for $4.99 jumbo packs with 16 cards and $20 Value Boxes with 10 packs + one medallion card. Hobby packs are $3.99 per pack with 24 packs per hobby box with two hits per box. NSU

RESPECT THE TEK

A fan-favorite returns to Hobby shops this November with the launch of 2016 Star Wars High Tek. A glitzy followup to last year's highly successful first series, 2016 Star Wars High Tek continues the adventure for hobbyists who demand that the highest level trading cards be a part of their Star Wars collection.

With this release collectors can look forward to new foil patterns and colors in the base set, which features, as Topps puts it, "the most iconic names throughout the galaxy." In addition to 112 High Tek Base cards, Base Parallels abound in a number of colorful variations.

Covering the full spectrum of Star Wars chaptered movies means last year's The Force Awakens will be fully represented. In particular, look for three different insert sets to showcase this thrilling film.

The Force will be with the Autograph cards, which will highlight actors from the entire Star Wars galaxy with on-card signatures. And in 2016 Star Wars High Tek even the Autograph cards feature various sequentially numbered Parallels. Returning signers include Harrison Ford, Mark Hamill, Carrie Fisher, John Boyega, Daisy Ridley, Ray Park, Matthew Wood, Billy Dee Williams, Jett Lucas, David Acord, Tom Kane, Stephen Stanton, Mark Dodson, Catherine Taber, Taylor Gray, and possibly more TBA. Two new signers — Julie Dolan (the voice of Leia from Star Wars Rebels) and Marc Silk from Episode I will be available. Some actors will sign autographs for different characters than they typically sign for. For example, Matthew Wood is signing as a Battle Droid ("Roger Roger") instead of General Grievous. There are several signers from The Force Awakens that were only in one prior product that will be returning for 2016 High Tek.

Meet Cathy Kendrick

by Dave Thompson

Have you met Cathy? No? Where've you been, on Tatooine with your Uncle Owen and Aunt Beru? Cathy Kendrick wields quite a light-saber in both worlds of non-sports and Star Wars, establishing one of the earliest, if not first, fan sites on the web for helping stormtroopers and rebels alike to track down Star Wars cards. Not bad for a History major!

"I've been an I.T. Security & Compliance person for most of 20 years," says Cathy. But she started out going for a History degree, then branched out into English. That led to a class assignment, designing a web page for Rhetorics class. "So I decided to do a little web page that was basically a Star Wars page of the cards I had collected." That's right: a class assignment which has grown in three-plus decades into a popular goldmine of info and trade opportunities. "I had become an authority by accident!"

Episode IV amazed her from the very start. She joined neighbors seeing it in 1977, just as it was catching fire, "...at the age of eight, and that ship flew overhead, it was the most emotional opening ever."

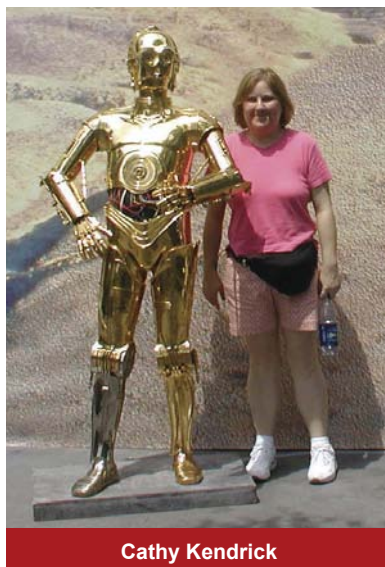

Cathy brought Skywalker and company home on trading cards. At that point, Topps had just the five vintage sets, each with different color borders, plus 58 wrappers from Topps Sugar-Free Gum, available at the local White Pantry. Cathy's first cards were the blue border series. She also recalls her first SW convention, either the second or third Indianapolis event.

The Empire Strikes Back sets came and went in 1980-1983, then nothing until the collecting bug struck back more than a decade later: "I had been in a class; a girl was using a Star Wars Galaxy card as a bookmark." And then came her class project and new online home. "[I was] posting on an equivalent of a bulletin board. It took a couple of years before I took on the interactive stuff." She recalls migrating her pages from site-host to site-host, as information and visitor count ate up more and more free bandwidth. "[The site-hosts] would send me emails."

Just radio silence from Lucasfilm, though. "I have never really 'sold' cards. Ever." There was no profit motive for her, helping fans and collectors hook up to finish their own want lists. Even at card or sci-fi conventions, she has no dealer table, no products to sell. "I'm a casual collector. I'm a hobbyist. I go to the shows as a fan."

Just "a fan"? More like a Jedi Mistress!

When we spoke, she'd just completed a podcast interview, and was looking forward to handing out her own promo cards at Celebration Europe. "StarWarsCards.net is 100% a hobby. It costs me money to run, and I have never made any meaningful attempt to recoup the money. We do charity stuff now and then to raise funds for charity, but we don't have a business."

So...how many cards? "I have at least 40 binders full of cards, and a bunch of cardboard and plastic containers full of cards, and I just plain... 'have cards.' At various points in my life I have organized or re-organized them. I have never, ever counted them. My actual favorite set is a Dutch [Star Wars] set (1983) that has a lot of Ewoks in it...and they're bright yellow! It's a fun little set; I get a kick out of 'slightly different.'"

That includes unauthorized cards, too... like the vintage Greek bootleg set from the 1980s which had Star Trek images in it. There's also a 1990s Russian sticker set, with a classic image of Lea in slave gear, with Darth's hand around her neck. "It's her DAD, dude!" Tough love, eh comrade?

"And, of course, there are the food tie-ins (which don't have to divulge which studio did them...so they don't). Now, as for the set I had to work the hardest to go after, I will say [it is] the New Zealand Dog Chow set. This is the set where I have no samples in my collection...more than once I've come across a single or multiple singles from the set, and been outbid (usually by outrageous amounts) by friends in the collective community who simply want them more than I do."

Topps is the 'official' card, but you will see some non-food-tie-ins that are not traditional shapes." Teeny or oversized, typically which shapes would print the most on one sheet.

A recent release? Try Journey to The Force Awakens cards, done vintage style. "It was mirrored to look like the old vintage cards, complete with the blue starfield... but you can get parallel cards bordered in yellow and green and pink and black...fun & nostalgic!" Cathy's neat tip: "When you open a Journey pack, the fourth card down is gonna be the chase card." NSU

BOLDLY GOING GOLD

Star Trek is Still Transporting
Fans Fifty Years Later

BY DON NORTON

By now everyone knows Star Trek is celebrating 50 years, and for the last twenty of those years, Rittenhouse Archives has been providing collectors with exciting cards based on this series. In March, they released one Star Trek 50th Anniversary set and now a second 50th Anniversary set is on the way. Rittenhouse president Steve Charendoff says, "Our first 50th Anniversary set was limited to The Original Series. Star Trek consists of so much more, with five live-action TV series, the animated series and 10 classic movies. There was no way to do justice to all of that history in one set of cards."

Star Trek 50th Anniversary Trading Cards will cover the greatest moments from Star Trek's television and film history in a 100-card base set. As usual, boxes will be loaded with fantastic chase and inserts.

First off, a 50-card Star Trek Heroes subset will look at the men and women who made Trek what it is (1:24). Fifty Artifex cards by Emily Tester will be found two per box. Tester specializes in b&w pencil art and strives for realism and detail. As an added bonus, Tester's original art, done in trading card format, will be included as part of the sketch card run, with sketches found one per case.

Watch for 18 Starfleet Captains cards, all the Starship commanders who have appeared in the series (1:48). Nine Ships of the Line looks at the different versions of the Enterprise, and nine Tech Evolution cards showing Phasers, Tricorders and more will be inserted at three per case. Most intriguing are the 10 Phaser Cut cards, found one per case. Charendoff added "The Phaser cuts are unlike any Star Trek cards ever made before. That's all I'm saying about that!"

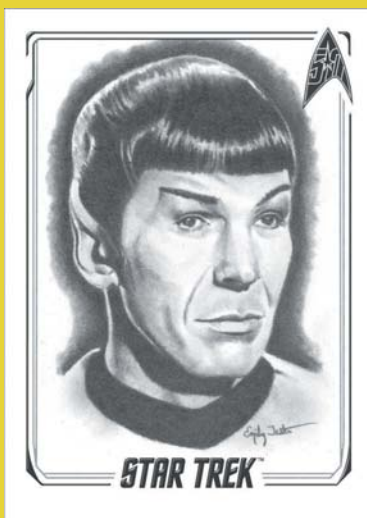

Each box will contain one relic card and two autographs. The relics will include costumes from a wide variety of characters. The autographs will be in the "Aliens" style, first introduced in the Star Trek Aliens 2014 set.

Of great interest will be the inclusion of all five Captains from the TV shows, the first time all have appeared in one set. Each case will contain either a William Shatner, Patrick Stewart, Avery Brooks, Kate Mulgrew, or Scott Bakula auto. Furthermore, cut autographs from Mark Lenard, DeForest Kelly and Gene Roddenberry will be randomly inserted.

Over the years, Charendoff has contacted many of Trek's stars, and he said, "All of the Captains have been great FUN FACTS — BEYOND FIFTY YEARS ... Before Trek, the cast of The Original Series paid their dues in small, often uncredited roles...

- William Shatner's early roles included a part in the Canadian series Space Command, in which he appeared with James Doohan. He was also Ranger Bob in the 1954 Canadian Howdy Doody Show.
- Gene Roddenberry's first TV creation was the 1963 show The Lieutenant, starring Gary Lockwood as a Marine officer named William Tiberius Rice (he would later star in the episode "Where No Man Has Gone Before)." Among the guests were Leonard Nimoy, Walter Koenig, Nichelle Nichols, Majel Barrett, and Ricardo Montalban, all future Trek stars. The episode with Nichols was never shown, since it dealt with racial prejudice, a taboo subject at the time.

- DeForest Kelly's acting career began in 1947, and he appeared in dozens of early TV and film Westerns. In a 1963 episode of The Virginian, Kelly played an army doctor, and one of his patients was Leonard Nimoy (who died under his care). In the 1956 film, The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit, in an uncredited role as a medic, he often tells Gregory Peck's character "He's dead sir." or "This man is dead."

- Like his other Trek cast members, Leonard Nimoy struggled during his early years in un-credited roles, such as a soldier in Them!. He appeared in many westerns, often in ethnic roles or as a bad guy due to his dark features. He first appeared with William Shatner in a 1964 episode of The Man from U.N.C.L.E.
- George Takai's first roles were voiceovers for Japanese monster movies such as Godzilla Raids Again and Rodan. Because of his Asian heritage, he often appeared in war movies. In an uncredited role, he was the Japanese Navy helmsman who steered his destroyer into PT-109 in the 1963 film of the same name about John F. Kennedy.

to work with. I did a signing with Kate Mulgrew at her apartment in New York City last year, and she couldn't have been more gracious. That was perhaps my most memorable encounter with any of the Captains, simply because we did the signing at her home. I've spoken with Shatner briefly at times, and he's great, but so many of the starring cast members of all of the Star Trek TV series and movies have been terrific. I think they all understand just how special the Star Trek phenomenon is, and how it's affected so many lives, including their own, for the better. In all honesty, though, Leonard Nimoy was my favorite to deal with. He was everything you would expect him to be — kind, selfless, worldly, interesting, thoughtful...I could go on and on about him. As I got to know him personally, I actually feel like he brought so much of himself to the role of Spock, more than most actors would or could to the roles they play. Spock is just such a special character — arguably the greatest science fiction character ever conceived — and portrayed in a way by Nimoy that was simply remarkable.”

As always, Rittenhouse will be offering some fantastic incentives for multiple cases. With six cases you will receive a piece of the hull of the USS Enterprise. Charendoff says, “The Enterprise relic comes from one of the movies. Very cool card.” With nine cases, fans will get a dual signed autograph card of William Shatner and Patrick Stewart, which will surely become one of the most sought after Trek cards ever made.

Look for Star Trek 50th Anniversary on December 14, and here's to 50 more years on the final frontier! NSU

BY RUDY PANUCCI

Looking back more than fifty years, Fleer's 1965 trading card set based on Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C. is a study of how much pop culture has changed. At a time when most of the country only had access to three commercial broadcast networks, and kids were basically stuck watching whatever television programs their parents watched, Gomer Pyle U.S.M.C. was a surprise hit.

Parents loved the apolitical situation comedy of a fish-out-of-water innocent yokel who was suddenly thrust into a new surroundings, and kids loved the goofiness of the title character and the slapstick antics that usually ensued. Jim Nabors became a star as the wide-eyed Southern boy who enlisted in the Marines and Frank Sutton was the living embodiment of exasperation as his long-suffering drill instructor, Gunnery Sergeant Carter.

THE CARDS

Fleer, noting the success of the new show, released a trading card set that is charming in its downright Spartan approach. Made up of 66 cards, the product sold in Fleer's nickel packs, with a color wax wrapper and matching color box that held 24 packs.

The cards themselves are pretty basic. The fronts feature one-color printing of a photo from the show, plus a caption. The backs offer two-color printing, with text that usually sets up the punchline seen on the front. The photos and gags appear to correlate to actual scenes from the first season of Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C. and that may have taken the most effort that went into producing this set.

All of the images on the cards are black and white publicity pictures taken from the show's first season. With the second season, which began after these cards were released in 1965, the show was produced in color.

Sorry Sergeant, But I Thought the General Would Like A Piece of My Licorice.

Sergeant Told Me I Was In G-2. That Ain't Intelligence. I'm In Garbage.

DID YOU KNOW?

Gomer Pyle U.S.M.C. was a spin-off of The Andy Griffith Show, where the character first appeared as a hapless mechanic. Gomer's show managed to find its way to trading cards first — twenty-five years before The Andy Griffith Show finally had a trading card set dedicated to it. This delay is credited to Andy's reluctance to license his own show for commercial products before that time. The Andy Griffith Show trading cards were finally released by Pacific in 1990, and Gomer Pyle is well-represented in that set.

It may seem strange to us now that Gomer Pyle U.S.M.C. even had a trading card set, but in 1964/65 the program had a very strong following among the kids' demographics, and, in addition to Fleer's trading cards, there were also lunch boxes, board games, and other kid-centric products. This minor merchandising bonanza pretty much came to an end in January 1966, when Batman debuted on ABC, and kids turned their attention to the caped crusader.

Among the cards in the Gomer Pyle U.S.M.C. set, only one stands out with a premium price. Card number 31, "Shazam" is popular because it features Gomer's catchphrase from the show, but it also holds crossover appeal to fans of the original Captain Marvel, who said "Shazam" as his magic word to change into a superhero from his alter ego, Billy Batson. Because of both of these factors, this one card usually commands more than three times the amount of a standard Gomer card.

On the card backs, there is a basic template with a simplified line-art version of Gomer and Sergeant Carter's heads along with the show's logo and a box and copyright info printed in blue. The caption and card number are printed in black.

THE WRAPPER

The wax wrapper surrounding these cards featured colorized photos of Gomer and Sergeant Carter's heads atop cartoon bodies, as well as the show's logo in bright yellow, all set against a bold, blue background.

Back in 1965, Gomer Pyle U.S.M.C. trading cards were seen primarily as a means by which to deliver bubble gum to children. In fact, the wax pack doesn't even mention how many cards are inside. It simply says "Contents: One slab bubble gum plus picture cards."

THE BOX

The artwork on the box features the same blue background and even more of the cartoon-bodied, photographic head caricatures of Gomer and Sergeant Carter as the wrapper. There is also a vending machine bulk box, which is just a standard Fleer box with "Gomer Pyle U.S.M.C." stamped on one end.

PRICING

Part of the fun of this set is that it is a great item for the beginning vintage non-sport collector. Complete sets (minus the wax pack or box) can be found in decent condition for under a hundred dollars, and if you choose to upgrade, graded and slabbed sets can still be found well below five hundred. Even fifty years after their release, whole unopened boxes can be found, though they will set you back a couple-thousand bucks or more. Unopened wax packs can still be picked up for bargain prices, as low as twenty dollars, and empty bulk vending boxes are plentiful at under thirty. This is really affordable considering that the show was a major hit during its run, never falling out of Nielson's top-ten TV rankings. NSU

CARDS ONLINE: EXCLUSIVELY 3D AND ONLINE

by Harris Toser

This month, Topps will release Star Wars 3D Widevision: Attack of the Clones. The series follows in a long line of Topps Widevision and 3D Widevision releases. This is the third lenticular Star Wars factory series Topps has marketed exclusively online at Topps.com after 2014's Star Wars: Return of the Jedi and 2015's Star Wars: Revenge of the Sith (other Star Wars 3D Widevision releases have been sold in standard box format). This got us wondering about the process and why some sets are Internet exclusives while others are found in hobby shops and at retail.

Before we get to that, here's what we know about Star Wars 3D Widevision: Attack of the Clones. AOTC will follow the same structure previously employed. The factory set consists of 44 3D lenticular base cards in 3D Widevision format. Collectors will find all 44 base cards plus 2 hits per box (no pack-searching needed!). One of the hits is a guaranteed autograph from the cast. The other hit can be a patch or medallion card or a second autograph. The autograph list includes Ian McDiarmid signing as Palpatine and Darth Sidious, Anthony Daniels as C-3PO, and the late Kenny Baker as R2-D2. First time signers include Alan Ruscoe, Silas Carson, Jett Lucas, Matthew Wood, Daniel Logan and many more. Each box is $100 and went on sale in October on Topps.com with the series expected to ship at the beginning of November.

I asked Topps how they decide a series will go the Internet exclusive route and Topps' Brand Manager, Entertainment, Mark Von Ohlen says, "Our online store is usually where we try to offer something different than the standard hobby configuration. It's where we can test new brands and configurations." He tells NSU the Widevision boxes have become some of Topps' top sellers and they plan to continue them into 2017. In fact, he reveals, "That's why we're offering a Doctor Who Widevision box in time for Christmas. That set, The Tenth Doctor Adventures, will be on sale in December and will feature 88 base cards telling the story of Doctor Who Series 2 - 4 (The David Tennant Years) plus two autographs!"

Von Ohlen also explains the 3D Widevision are produced for Topps' high end collectors looking for something special. "They're a very small print run — only 2,500 boxes — so selling them on Topps.com gives everyone a chance to purchase," he continues.

As noted, Star Wars 3D Widevision: Attack of the Clones marks the third 3D Widevision factory series outing. I asked about the missing 3D Widevision pieces of the Star Wars puzzle to which Von Ohlen says "We've been slowly getting there. This started as an annually planned release before new content was being released by Lucasfilm. Now we not only have to play catch up but need to stay on top of the new movies as well. Our long term plan is to cover the three saga films, three prequels and the three sequels, then hit the three spin-offs. Of course, by that time there might be another six movies on the way!"

So what's up next? Von Ohlen tells

NSU, "In 2017 we will be doing Star Wars: The Force Awakens 3D Widevision featuring 44 3D Widevision cards plus 2 autographs per box! Signers include Harrison Ford, Daisy Ridley, Mark Hamill, and John Boyega."

These have all been quality sets and NSU is excited not only for AOTC and TFA 3D Widevision but The Tenth Doctor Adventures series as well. It will be great to see the Doctor; his companions Rose Tyler, Martha Jones, and Donna Noble; and the TARDIS all in their Widevision glory! Stay tuned to the (2D) pages of NSU for further Widevision and 3D Widevision developments. NSU

FOR SOMETHING COMPLETELY DIFFERENT ...

The Circus Still Flies on Trading Cards

BY ARNOLD BAILEY

The challenge facing Cornerstone Communications in creating a non-sport card set about Monty Python's Flying Circus was to make it zany enough on cardboard to match what the British comedy show was like on the air. Just look back at what made the show so popular with its cult-like audience. Monty Python presented sketches that had no punch lines. Most of the comedy was based on sight gags. Many skits were risqué or at least laced with innuendo. Animation was intermingled with live acting. Critics described the show with adjectives like absurd, surreal, droll, erudite, and off the wall. The only thing predictable about the show was its unpredictability.

And, to top it all off, the segments of each of the show's 45 half-hour episodes were not even loosely connected. Thus the troupe's switcheroo segue: "And now for something completely different..." Cornerstone met the challenge with its Monty Python's Flying Circus Act 1 card set which turned out to be all of the above and often more.

LISTEN TO THE PYTHONS

Where else can non-sport collectors find scratch-and-listen cards? These were hyped as "the world's first" and introduced on the checklist as fake scratch-and-listen cards. A scratch-off section on the unnumbered card backs revealed a phone number that, when called, answered with a message of Python comedy material. A series of companion genuine fake cards were scarce, inserted at the rate of just 1 in 436 packs. So, it's a good bet not a lot of the calls were made. If you sent in your scratched card, as suggested, Cornerstone would send you a replacement, and even return your scratched version. If you still have one of the cards, don't bother to call; the number is disconnected.

There are animator cards, unique pieces of weird art from the show's unique collection of artwork. Typical is the cards' "Official Monty Python's Flying Circus Be-A-World-Famous-Animator-In-The-Privacy-Of-Your-Own-Home" label.

Biography cards tell tales about the group's members (British comics Graham Chapman, John Cleese, Eric Idle, Michael Palin, and Terry Jones, American animator Terry Gilliam, and Brit beauty Carol Cleveland, often called the “7th Python.”)

A subset of 10 trivia cards warn the viewer that they’ve watched far too many Flying Circus episodes for their own good if all these facts are familiar. The info was provided by Python expert Kim “Howard” Johnson.

Even the set’s checklist meets the “completely different” requirement. It lists three number 5 cards identified as 5a, 5b and 5c, though the actual cards do not reflect that. There is no card numbered 6. Card 23 is misnumbered as card 43. The backs of cards 43 through 46 form a story when put together. A six-card puzzle image is formed by the backs of cards 30, 31, 39, 63, 69, and 74. Card number 66 alerts readers that card number 71 is coming soon which, of course, it is.

Also included in packs were insert cards that hyped Cornerstone’s planned card sets about two future Python movies, The Holy Grail and Life of Brian. Ultimately, the former set was realized and released in 1995 while Brian’s card life was cancelled.

The Flying Circus cards are standard size (2 1/2” x 3 1/2”). Packs (20 cards in each) came to the hobby market in 39-pack boxes. The animation graphics on both is appropriately Python-weird. Display boxes also feature color images of the Python troupe in various settings. Though price guides vary slightly about which cards belong where, the base set is most often complete at 108 cards.

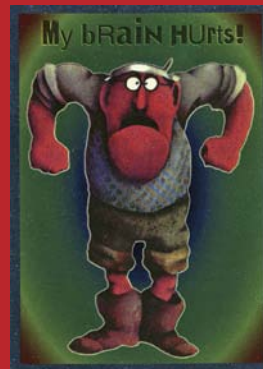

THE FUTURE OF PYTHONS

One thing the cards can do is serve as an introduction for a new generation to the world of Monty Python’s Flying Circus. It’s a wacky world of pet shops peddling dead parrots and of cheese shops that have no cheese. The Ministry of Silly Walks directs public perambulation and a restaurant serves mostly Spam. Sweet shops feature crunchy frog candy, Crellm Dental Action Figures and popular toys. Fans can hum the Lumberjack song while being shown how to recognize different trees. The populace includes Upper Class Twits who can inspire a game of Spot the Looney. In courtrooms, rulings are made with games of charades which reveal that one cannot plead “not gill-cup.” All that and more can be found in a set of completely different cards. NSU

DID YOU KNOW...

Cornerstone Communications planned, in 1994, the Monty Python’s Flying Circus Act I card set to commemorate the 25th-year anniversary of the show’s 1969 BBC debut. The card company had begun thinking about such a set in 1991, but the Python troupe showed no interest. That changed in 1993 and Cornerstone went to work on the cards. Promos have 1994 copyright dates and promise “shipping in November ‘94.” That didn’t happen. The cards still needed the Python troop’s specific approval and that didn’t come until December of ‘94. So, the cards didn’t reach the hobby market until late January 1995 and carry that year’s copyright date.

“AND NOW FOR SOMETHING COMPLETELY DIFFERENT...”

Those six words have become the signature line for Monty Python’s Flying Circus. The classic scene features a tux-and-bow-tie clad John Cleese making the announcement into a microphone while sitting at a desk. The settings varied from a spot on a rocky beach, inside a zoo cage or suspended in mid-air. The words served as a link between unrelated sketches or sometimes as an intro. Though the line is usually identified with Cleese it was fellow Python Eric Idle who first uttered it while introducing a skit about a man with three buttocks. In real life, the phrase was often used in all seriousness on BBC news broadcasts which the Pythons often spoofed. That Cornerstone Communications would feature it on one of the set’s promo cards clearly indicates the card maker truly “got it” about Python humor.

Yule Jewels

BY SCOTT THOMAS

What and who are on your holiday gift lists this year? The “what” certainly could be entertainment cards given to children, spouses or even yourself! Christmastime and Santa Claus share a rich history with trading cards dating to the late 19th Century. The modern era of collecting encompasses an array of sets depicting St. Nick, all of which are both plentiful and affordable in today’s marketplace. And if you’re puzzled on how to surprise the youngster down the block later this month, why not share your card collecting enthusiasm with a few packs of some of the sets listed below?

YULE LAFF (Fleer 1960, 66-card set)

The lone vintage title in our set survey, Yule Laff is as light as a snowflake in terms of art, and its one-liner humor evokes the innocence of youth. Fleer, with perhaps tongue-in-cheek, advocated these standard sized pasteboards with postcard formatted backs be sent through the U.S. Postal system. Enough survived un-mailed that an average vg complete set might be purchased for about $100; raw singles have been seen in the secondary market starting at $1.50.

SANTA CLAUS, A NOSTALGIC COLLECTION (21st Century Archives 1994, 50-card base, plus chase) This product reflects our hobby’s Great Expansion of 20 years ago. A Nostalgic Collection portrays popular culture’s casting of Santa Claus as icon and salesman, while documenting the religious figure Nicholas of Myra (modern day Turkey) and Christianity’s celebration of his myth. A superb example of commercial art work with informative narratives; the set’s value is roughly equal to a box of Christmas lights.

SANTA AROUND THE WORLD

(TCM Associates 1994, 72-card base, plus chase)

Though not as absorbing as A Nostalgic Collection, this noteworthy Santa art anthology reflects how St. Nicholas has been characterized in North America, Europe and Asia from the mid-19th Century through World War II. No narrative content accompanies the imagery; backs are comprised of puzzle/poster pieces.

COCA-COLA HOLIDAY (Comic Images 2001, 72-card base, plus chase) Ad artist Haddon Sundblom first rendered Santa Claus as a Coke-imbibing seasonal symbol in 1931. Prior to Sundblom’s Depression-era creation, St. Nick in America was employed to endorse everything from men’s shirts and ladies’ hosiery, liquor and cigarettes to home appliances such as toasters and refrigerators. Comic Images’ legacy of fantasy, comic and fine art cards had been enhanced when this Sundblom tribute went public. (PICTURED AT RIGHT)

HOLIDAY TREASURES (Upper Deck 2004, 50-card set marketed with set of three figurines) Given the cards were released chiefly as a one-pack premium with a Disney bobble-head toy package, this issue remains affordable through online sources. Five subsets comprise the collection. The first depicts scenes from 10 classic Walt Disney shorts beginning with the 1931 comedy, Mickey’s Orphans. Ten cards reveal sequences from Mickey’s Twice Upon A Christmas, a direct-to-video computer animated feature that debuted in November 2004.

OUR NEXT TWO EXAMPLES ARE FOR MORE MATURE HOBBYISTS.

BENCH WARMER HOLIDAY SERIES (2006, 2012 to present, various lengths) The Los Angeles-based manufacturer has been prolific in building its brand and following over the previous 15 years. Pretty girls on cards, when photographed expertly, always find their audience. Bench Warmer's inserts — autographs, fabric swatches, et al. — drive their business model and perpetuate popularity. The holiday season provides ample opportunities for the BW women to don festive frocks for Yuletide celebrations. We advise sipping a slowly warmed libation when perusing any of these cards.

KRINGLE KARDS SKETCH SERIES (Breygent Marketing, 18-card base, plus sketch art sub-issues) Some artists hired for this project absolutely did not draw inspiration from either Haddon Sundblom or Norman Rockwell. Here, you might see Santa wielding a bloody ax or leering at his 20-something vixen helpers. Yes, Virginia, there exists here a great many conventional warm-fuzzy sketch images of St. Nick in Kringle Kards, but others represent him perhaps making deliveries in Dystopia.

The Christmas Card List:
In 1965, Donruss printed a Disneyland 10th anniversary set; card number 17 shows a decorated Christmas tree in the Town Square. In the modern era, Comic Images augmented its 1995 Norman Rockwell 2 collection with a six-card Holiday Chromium chase sub-issue. Collect-a-Card's Coca-Cola Collection offers Santa Claus art chase issues with its 1994 and '95 printings. Sports card firm Pro Set printed special Santa promos in conjunction with their 1990 NFL issue and also a 1991 card for vendors. And finally, Non-Sport Update's January 1992 issue carried a display ad for an Ohio-based Motocross trading card maker that distributed over 1,200 Kriss Kringle promos. The Santa-On-A-Dirtbike pose is the most unique image in our yule card review. NSU

UPDATE

WHAT'S LISTED

Products listed in the Price Guide typically:

- Are produced by licensed manufacturers
- Are widely available
- Have market activity on single items

HOW IT'S LISTED

The sort order of the checklists are somewhat unique. All sets are listed 1) alphabetically then 2) chronologically. However, some exceptions have been made to further accommodate the reader. For instance, when it comes to recurring series, television seasons or film franchises and their sequels, all checklists will be grouped together in the same block. For example, if a reader was looking for sets devoted to James Bond or Harry Potter, they would find all sets devoted to these franchises in the same block. They would be listed chronologically while still adhering to the alphabetization of the entire section.

WHAT THE COLUMNS MEAN

The LO and HI columns reflect current retail selling ranges. The HI column on the right generally represents the full retail selling price. The LO column on the left generally represents the lowest price one would expect to find with extensive shopping.

MULTIPLIERS

Parallel sets and lightly traded insert sets are listed with multipliers to provide values of unlisted cards. Multiplier ranges (i.e. 20X to 40X) apply only to the HI column. Example: If base card A lists for 20 to 50 cents, and the multiplier is "20X to 40X," then the parallel version of card A or the insert card in question is valued at $10 to $20.

PRICING PREMIUMS

Some cards can trade at premium price levels compared to values listed in this issue. Those include but are not limited to: cards that became hot since this issue went to press, fan favorites (such as Harrison Ford) who may be in high demand, and memorabilia cards with unusually dramatic swatches, props, or patches.

STATED ODDS AND PRINT RUNS

Odds of pulling inserts are listed as a ratio (1:12 = 1 in 12 packs). If the odds vary by pack type, they are listed separately. Stated odds are provided by the manufacturer based on the entire print run and should not be viewed as a guarantee by neither Beckett Media nor the manufacturer.

GRADING

All cards in the price guide are based on NrMint to Mint condition. Damaged cards are generally sold for 25 to 75 percent of Mint value.

CURRENCY

This price guide is intended to reflect the entire North American market. While not all of the cards are produced in the United States, they will reflect the market value in U.S. dollars.

ONLY A REFERENCE

The data and pricing information contained within this publication is intended for reference only and is not to be used as an endorsement of any specific product(s) or as a recommendation to buy or sell any product(s). Beckett's goal is to provide the most accurate and verifiable information in the industry. However, Beckett cannot guarantee the accuracy of all data published. Typographical errors occasionally occur and unverifiable information may reach print from time to time. Buyers and sellers of non-sports collectibles should be aware of this and handle their personal transactions at their own risk. If you discover an error, misprint, or have any suggestions for Non-Sport Update, please notify us via email at nonsports@beckett.com

WHAT YOU WILL FIND IN THIS PRICE GUIDE

Due to a prompt amount of customer feedback, we've increased the amount of listings for this issue. Many popular franchises have made their return to the price guide, including: Buffy the Vampire Slayer and Harry Potter. We've also expanded listings for James Bond and Lord of the Rings.

We've also cut a significant amount of vintage listings in favor of more recent non-sports products. However, certain iconic vintage sets remain in place such as 1966 Batman and 1962 Mars Attacks.
